NEWS AND COMMENTS.

Notice was given last week by Senator Ransom that on January 17th, he would present resolutions in honor of the late Senator Vance, of North Carolina.

There will be no negro members in the next Congress. Murray, of South Carolina, and Cheatham, of North Carolina, the only negroes that have been in Congress, for years, are both defeated.

Maj. Jno. C. Winder, vice president of the Seaboard Air Line, has resigned. He has been with the system for more than twenty years and was one of its best officers. The cause given for the resignation is that Maj. Winder was tired of railroad life, and that the duties of his position kept him from his home and family fully nine tenths of the time.

The Republican Congressional committee, says a Washington special, has sent out a significant letter in regard to the contested seats in the Congress. There are upwards of thirty districts wherein defeated Republicans have indicated their intention of filing contests. The committee has addressed to each of these contestants a statement notifying him that he must not place any reliance on the large Republican majority in the next Congress, but must rest his prospect for success on the merits of the claims he advances. Probable contestants were advised not to file their papers unless they were able to reinforce them with testimony of the most unimpeachable character.

The official returns of the State Board of canvassers show that New York city gave 20,000 majority in favor of the consolidated scheme; Brooklyn gave 1,393; Richmond county, 3,799, and Long Island city, 2,376. Mount Vernon gave 709 and Flushing 163 against it The present area of New York city is thirty-nine square miles, but the plan of consolidation makes it eight times larger, or 312 square miles. The combined population is 3,000,000, and is exceeded by only four States. If the consolidation is carried out New York will rank second in the great cities of the world, London coming first, at 4,231,431; Paris third, at 2,447,957; Canton, at 1,600,000: Berlin, at 1,579,244; Tokio, at 1,389,684; Vienna, at 1,389,684; and Philadelphia, at 1,142,653, following in the order named.

"Let me make a prediction," said Senator Palmer to a New York Herald reporter, "and that is that a Free Coinage bill will be passed at this session of Congress, and that it will be promptly vetoed by the President. The House will pass the measure by an overwhelming majority. In the Senate the Representatives of Colorado, Wyoming, Nevada, Idaho, Washington and the Dakotas, among the republicans, will vote on the free silver side. They will be reinforced by Missouri, Arkansas, Alabama, Tennessee, the Carolinas and enough other Senators to carry the measure, but not enough to prevent Mr. Cleveland's Veto being effective. "Beyond that, I predict, there will be no important legislation. Some of the Appropriation bills will go through without a struggle. Others will provoke considerable opposition. I know there will be a strong attempt to nullify the income tax by withholding an appropriation. Still, I believe, it will pass. The government needs the money. Senators like Smith, of New Jersey, were satisfied with the five year limitation, and will, I believe, feel in honor bound to provide for the execution of the law.

As finally prepared the list of the next Congress shows 244 Republicans, 104 Democrats and six Populists, one silver and one vacant. The Republicans will constitute more than two thirds of the House membership. Sectionally, the Republican majority will be divided as follows: New England States 26, old Middle States 63; Middle-Western States 91; far Western States 28; Southern States 32. The Democrats secure only thirteen members in the Northern States; California and Massachusetts contribute one each; Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania two each, and New York five. The Democrats secure six solid State delegations, those of Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina. The Republicans secure nineteen solid delegations, those of Connecticut, Deleware, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin. In all 28 contests may be made from the Southern States, and a majority of them are to be instituted by Republican candidates against Democrats.

Count Ferdernand de Lesseps died near Paris Friday afternoon. A despatch from Paris says: This distinguished engineer was born at Versailles on Novembers 19, 1805. His fame rests chiefly on his scheme to pierce the Isthmus of Suez by means of a canal, which was opened for steamboats on August 15, 1865, although the waters of the Mediterranean were not connected with those of the Red sea in the Bitter lakes until August 15, 1869. On November 17, 1869, the Suez canal was formerly opened at Port Said amid a series of festivities. A few days after the inauguration, M. de Lesseps married his second wife, Mlle. Autard de Bragard, a young creole of English extraction. He was given the grand cross of the Legion of Honor in 1869, and in 1870 was nominated by Queen Victoria an Honorary Knight Grand Commander of the Order of the Star of India. The last great engineering work attempted by de Lesseps was the cutting of a canal through the Isthmus of Panama, but after the expenditure of 600,000,000 francs, which eventually led to most serious scandals, the work was unsuccessful. He had just completed his 87th year and was very feeble when his reputation was assailed by the charges of colossal fraud and corruption in connection with the financial part of the Panama enterprise. It is doubtful whether he ever realized the disgrace. When arrested at his home he had apparently some vague idea of impending menace to his reputation, and he put on his orders and his star of the Legion of Honor before receiving the officers of the law. He was not molested further and never knew that he had been tried, convicted, and sentenced to five years imprisonment. Even the fact of his son's sentence was kept from him and he was permitted to die in peace. He left a large family of children by his second wife.

Sense and Nonsense

The regular session of Congress begins on Monday. The country is in actual need of important legislation. Its finances and its currency are in a deplorable state. The Treasury is demonstrating its inability to avail itself of the government's credit for the purpose of adding to its gold supply. The wheat-grower and cotton planter are paying the waste of the trade to which all people are doomed who have no banks, and who, for lack of the facilities which banks provide for their customers, are obliged to sell their products at his price to the first dealer who happens along with a roll of bills or a bag of silver. There is a feeling of unrest and insecurity throughout the country, not wholly arising from the state of the gold balance in the Treasury, nor from the temporarily depressed revenues from customs duties, but also from uncertainty as to money legislation. It is safe to say that there is nowhere any fear of tariff legislation. Men of sense among the Republicans recognize that the days of McKinleyism are over, and that changes in the tariff in the future will be along the lines laid down in the new tariff act. The pressing question is that of the currency, and if nothing else can be accomplished at this coming session at least some of the lessons of present facts and of the late election should find their way into the statute-book.

It is perhaps unwise to expect much from a Congress controlled by a party so recently and so overwhelming defeated at the polls as the Democratic party has been. The underlying philosophy of our system of government is not only that the legislative branch shall go slow, that hasty action in one House shall be checked by the other, and that both Houses shall be under the restraining power of the Executive veto, but that the people themselves shall not be able to command revolutionary legislative action. And to this end the House of Representatives which was elected on the 6th of November will not meet in regular session until the first Monday of December, 1895, and will not come into existence until the 4th of March next. Generally this theory is most admirably adapted to the proper conduct of our public business, but this is one of the times when it would be well to be rid at once of the existing House of Representatives.

And yet these disappointed and beaten Democrats are also in an exceptional position. The conditions which make it desirable that the newly elected House of Representatives should meet before next December make it possible for them to spend three months of activity, instead of waiting in dumb passivity for their successors. The country repudiated the Republican party in 1890 because of what the Republican majority in Congress had accomplished. In passing the McKinley bill it had carried its party's policy to such an extreme that its logical conclusion—tariff prohibition—was apparently to follow. The defeat was therefore a verdict against the party's policy, and as the party could not be expected to carry out the sentence itself, Mr. Reed's House of Representatives had only to wait while the Democratic victors so far recovered from the excitement and passion of the conflict as to be able to legislate with some degree of rational regard for the interests of the whole country. The present case is different. The verdict against the Democratic party is for what the party has not done—for its sins of omission, for it would be a libel on the intelligence of the American people to suppose that the voters who decided in 1890 and in 1892 in favor of a low tariff would turn about before a halting compliance with their demands had gone into effect and vote for the maintenance of the policy that they had twice rejected.

It is the part of wisdom for the Democrats in Congress to recognize the meaning of the election, as well as the part of duty to do the work with which they have been intrusted. If they are to recover before 1896 from the serious blow which has been dealt them, they must exert themselves to the utmost to efface the impression which the Democratic Senators made in the special session of 1893, and in the regular session at which the tariff bill was passed; and the first opportunity they will have to exhibit to the country their appreciation of existing conditions, and their purpose to obey the wishes of the voters, will be afforded to them by the coming session, when, if they are wise, they will settle down to a winter of hard work.

By hard work we mean practical work. Efforts to define individual and party policies by the introduction and passage of measures that cannot become laws will not satisfy the country of anything else than that the Democratic party continues under the control of the dangerous visionaries whom the voters have just condemned. It cannot be too often repeated that the country wants something done. Therefore when the friends of Mr. Voorhees announce that he is on his way to Washington with a free coinage bill in his pocket, they are admitting that his influence will be cast in favor of wasting the winter. A free coinage bill cannot become a law so long as Mr. Cleveland is President, and there is not a two-thirds vote in favor of the expiring movement in each House of Congress. Neither can a bill become a law repealing the tax on State bank circulation unaccompanied by provisions that will guarantee to all their holders the soundness of the State bank notes.

Two things ought to be possible of accomplishment, however, and if the Democratic House of Representatives passes safe bills looking to these ends, it will do nearly as much for the country, and therefore for its party, as Mr. Cleveland did by compelling the adoption of the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act. It is demonstrated now that although the government may secure an additional supply of currency through a bond issue, so long as the greenbacks exist it cannot greatly increase its supply of gold. It will receive back its own gold in the form of loans, and will gain only the greenbacks with which the gold was withdrawn. It is clear that greenbacks must cease to be part of our currency as soon as possible, and this House of Representatives can accomplish something looking to that end, and to replacing the greenbacks, as well as our national bank notes, with a more elastic paper currency.

The second effort of the Secretary of the Treasury to repair his depleted resources by availing himself of the act of 1875 should lead to a remedy of the crude condition which compels the government to borrow at high rates of interest on long-time bonds. An act authorizing the Secretary to borrow as his necessities require, for a shorter or longer period, in his discretion, paying the market rates, ought to pass before the 4th of March. Such an act would simply place the Treasury on a business footing, and give to the government the advantage enjoyed by every one of its citizens who is forced to borrow.

Let Congress pass measures providing for a more elastic paper money, and the retirement of the greenbacks, and to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to avail himself of ruling market rates and the substantial credit of the government when he needs money.—Harper's Weekly.

Master and Apprentice.

The Nineteenth Century.

A difference between master and apprentice, or between master and worker, (compayne, Geselle,) existed in the medieval cities from their very beginnings, but this was at the outset a mere difference of age and skill, not of wealth and power. After a seven years' apprenticeship, and after ties by a work of art, the apprentice became a master himself. And only much later, in the sixteenth century, after the royal power had destroyed the city and the craft organization, was it possible to become master in virtue of simple inheritance or wealth. But this was also the time of a general decay in mediaeval industries and art.

There was not much room for hired work in the early flourishing periods of the mediaeval cities, still less for individual hirelings. The work of the weavers, the archers, the smiths, the bakers, and so on, was performed for the craft and the city; and when craftsmen were hired in the building trades, they worked as temporary corporations, (as they still do in the Russian artels,) whose work was paid on bloc. Work for a master began to multiply only later on; but even in this case the worker was paid better than he is paid now, even in this country, and very much better than he used to be paid all over Europe in the first half of this century.

Thorold Rogers has familiarized English readers with this idea; but the same is true for the Continent as well, as is shown by the researches of Falke and Schonberg, and by many occasional indications. Even in the fifteenth century a mason, a carpenter, or a smith worker would be paid at Amiens four sols a day, which corresponded to forty-eight pounds of bread, or to the eighth part of a small ox (bouvard!) In Saxony the salary of the Geselle in the building trade was such that, to put it in Falke's words, he could buy with his six days' wages three sheep and one pair of shoes. The donations of workers (Geselle) to cathedrals also bear testimony of their relative wellbeing, to say nothing of the glorious nations of certain craft guilds, or of what they used to spend in festivities and pageants. In fact, the more we learn about the mediaeval city the more we are convinced that at no time has labor enjoyed such conditions of prosperity and such respect as when city life stood at its highest.

Woman's Rights.

In a recently published medical work, the author asserts that nine-tenths of the women of America are subject to uterine and kindred diseases and in consequence, maternity becomes to them a dreaded burden. How very small is the proportion of ladies who reach middle age wearing the bright glow of health which was their maidenly attraction and of which they have been robbed by functional disorders and nervous weakness! We take pleasure in recommending to all thus afflicted the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a tried remedy, safe and sure in all cases. Its discoverer merits the gratitude of the sex for the blessing he has conferred upon them. For nursing mothers and all debilitated "run-down" women, it is the most certain restorative. To those about to become mothers it is a priceless boon. It lessens the pains and perils of child birth, shortens labor, promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child and shortens the period of confinement.

FREE SHIPS, AND SO ON.

"Free ships" is one of the recommendations of the President which democrats educated in the proper faith have long been crying for. Elsewhere is an interesting resume, taken from the Atlanta Journal, of the effects of our "registration" laws. We observe, however, that our Georgian contemporary labors under a prevalent mistake that the law limiting an American "registry" to American-built ships is of comparatively recent date—since, for example, 1843, the year named by it as a period when we had "free ships." But the same registration law existed then as now and had existed since almost the beginning of the government. What has happened to change our ante-bellum condition of dividing with England the commercial control of the seas to our present humiliating state of being left behind by any of the fifth rate and effete monarchies, is the establishment in this once well-ruled land of Republican protection. The patriotic requirement of the fathers that the American flag should float over only American bottoms was no hindrance to our reaching the proud position referred to, because under the wise laws of the real Americans who governed this country before 1861 we could build ships as cheaply as England. Since the advent of the half-educated statesmen who have succeeded the real Americans and who have inflicted upon us their so-called protective laws, this is no longer possible. The result is that described by the Journal: our flag is driven off the seas. What the President recommends is, therefore, equivalent to a confession by the head of the nation that while our post-bellum manufacturers or ship-builders are smart enough and valiant enough so long as they have our high walls to protect them, the instant they essay competition on the high seas, neutral territory, they are driven back to their cover. It is the supreme illustration of the folly of protection.

Well may the Reverend Peters declare, as in the interesting quotation elsewhere from the New York Tribune, that he has just discovered the "real Americans," and that they dwell in this Southern land of ours. Not all of his section are so candid. It has been a bitter pill for the new order of statesmen to swallow, but inexorable necessity has been forcing them step by step—first to a low tariff to regain commerce, then to free ships to regain the carrying trade, and now almost to the home rule of State banks—to return to the rejected doctrines of the Southern statesmen, who, though neither merchants, nor ship-builders, nor professors of "high finance," made the best laws that any of these classes have lived under.

Another striking instance of the recoil of protection is that of the exports from this country of cotton goods. In 1860 the value of these was something over ten millions of dollars. In 1880 (after the lapse of that twenty years which Mr. Blaine pointed to with such pride as the golden period of our history—such mistaken pride, for the vast increase of wealth which he dwelt upon did not fall into the people's hands)—in 1880 our exports of cotton goods had fallen below ten millions of dollars in value, notwithstanding our population had vastly increased and manufacturing machinery and facilities had been vastly improved and multiplied. Meanwhile, England's exports of cotton goods had almost doubled. Yet England had to transport her raw cotton across the sea, whereas we had it at our doors.

Verily the New England kind of protection is a mockery, and the head of the New England kind of statesman is as full of wood as her nutmegs.

SENSE AND NONSENSE.

We have given this caption to a very interesting article which the reader will find on the first page, quoted from Harper's Weekly. The editorials of that journal are usually very able, and being a weekly its utterances are necessarily much better digested and more compendious than those of its daily-issued neighbors.

Here is a sample of the sense that may be found plentifully distributed through the article quoted by us:

> The verdict against the Democratic party is for what the party has not done—for its sins of omission, for it would be a libel on the intelligence of the American people to suppose that the voters who decided in 1890 and in 1892 in favor of a low tariff would turn about before a halting compliance with their demands had gone into effect and vote for the maintenance of the policy that they had twice rejected.

And here of the nonsense:

> If the Democratic House of Representatives passes safe bills looking to these ends, [the protection of the treasury, &c.], it will do nearly as much for the country, and therefore for its party, as Mr. Cleveland did by compelling the adoption of the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act.

Now, in the name of common sense, can any mortal point out an atom of good that the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law has accomplished? That very deplorable state which the Weekly so graphically describes as the condition of the finances and currency, is the plain result of repealing the "makeshift" and failing to put the substitute in its place. As well might Congress have left off with the mere repeal of the McKinley law, substituting no other tariff law. The consequences would not have been more disastrous.

AS TO MR. CARLISLE'S PLAN.

In the report of Mr. Carlisle's explanation of his currency plan before the House committee, one of our exchanges represents some of the "extreme free silver men" of the Senate as opposed to it on the ground that the enactment into law of such provisions would prove a death blow to silver. We do not think so. On the contrary, we think it will stimulate the demand for silver as the basis of State bank issues when the unconditional repeal of the 10 per cent. tax shall have been reached. It will be observed that the President referred to his present proposition as a step in the latter direction. If the democrats are wise they will also pass a free silver bill, now. Otherwise it is not unlikely the Republicans may do so, when they come in.

But by all means adopt Mr. Carlisle's proposition, or some modification of it—not as the best, but as probably the best to be had now that unconditional repeal has deprived us of our bargaining power.

What is past finding out is the strange fact that Mr. Carlisle should have waited until his party was defeated, before recognizing the currency dilemma which Vance and his Senatorial companions so eloquently pointed out.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The sugar differential repeal was defeated yesterday by 27 to 23. Jarvis voted yea. Ransom not recorded.

One of our contemporaries speaks of the power to emit "bills of credit" as one of those expressly denied by the Constitution to the Federal Government. That is not quite correct. It is expressly denied to the States, but, not being delegated to the Federal Government, it is reserved, under the provisions of the Xth Amendment, "to the people." The effect, of course, is the same.

Secretary Carlisle has sent to Congress an estimate that $500,190 will be necessary for the collection of the income tax. Five hundred additional employees will be required for this work, including 303 deputy collectors. The appropriation asked for the services and expenses of these new officials is $423,600. Ten additional revenue agents will also be required, and $36,000 is asked for to pay their salaries and expenses. An income-tax division of the Treasury, with twenty-three clerks, will have to be established. The expense of this work will amount to $30,590. There is no likelihood that Senator Hill will oppose the appropriation, or, if he does, that he will succeed in obstructing it, as it will be included in the "Urgent Deficiency" bill, which has the reputation of never having been obstructed by anything.

What is the matter with the goldbug Atlanta Journal and some other anti-silver journals we wot of? Since the President's message, their tune seems to have changed—one as to the need of silver coinage; another as to the need of more money, generally; another as to the unjust distribution of wealth that has taken place since the Democrats went out of power in 1861, and so on. Says our Atlanta contemporary in a leading editorial: "It is said that in 1845 there were very few men in New York worth as much as $100,000. In 1892 the number of millionaires in that city was 1,103. What is it now? That question is not so pertinent as the inquiry as to how these men made their wealth. A fearful side-light is thrown on this picture by the well known fact that never before was there so much abject poverty, so much misery and suffering in New York as there is now. When the extremes of wealth and poverty meet in a great city there is danger always. Some of the worst men in New York are millionaires. Some of the best and most deserving are in poverty. It may be said, 'So runs the world away,' but people are inquiring more and more into the methods by which wealth is acquired, and if our government is to be secure and our civilization is to last, the time will come when the scoundrel who has a million dollars will be as easy to reach by the hand of the law and as liable to go to the chain-gang for his villainy as the most degraded petty thief." That might have been said by a "silver crank."

New Impressions of the South

The New York Tribune of a recent date says:

The Rev. Madison C Peters, of the Bloomingdale Church, in a prelude to his sermon last evening, said in part:

"Having recently spent a few weeks in the South, I feel it to be my duty publicly to admit that I had, until I enlarged my information by personal observation, an entirely erroneous idea of the South, and I take this means publicly to apologize for those uncharitable thoughts. My lectures were on American lines, and my pleas for intenser Americanism and more enthusiastic loyalty to American ideas, as laid down by the founders of the republic, met everywhere with the heartiest response. If the tocsin of war should be sounded, a foreign foe invade our shores, or an insurrectionary body arise in our midst a million men, armed to the teeth, would come from the South and rally around the flag of the Union.

"Why, the South is the only truly American part of our nation to-day. The South may yet have to be called on to save the North from her reckless immigration, which is now weakening and undermining the foundations of our social order. Rebel! That word must henceforth not be spoken. I believe that the South to-day grasps the hand of the North in a fellowship which has in it no misgiving nor deceit. The public men of the South are not, as with us, 'professional foreigners,' who have made public office a public steal. The Southern men in public office are patriotic and devout, conscientiously American, and personally the embodiment of integrity. But, you say, they do not believe in negro domination. Neither do we North. Enfranchising all the negroes immediately after their emancipation was practically one of the greatest mistakes ever made by any free government. In many counties and States the colored voters are in the majority, and a majority rule would take the government entirely from the property owners and place it in the hands of those who, with few exceptions, have no qualifications to entitle them to a voice in the affairs of the government. Negro domination would mean white domination.

"The solid South is broken, and will break more and more if they are let alone. But let the next Congress agitate a force bill, and self-defence will solidify the South again. A suffrage limited to an educational qualification is the only solution of the negro problem. But illiteracy is not confined to the South. Our Northern cities are thronged with foreigners as imbecile in their ignorance and degraded in their morals as were the rabble hordes that wrecked the republics of antiquity. Universal suffrage is a menace to free institutions."

Free Ships.

Atlanta Journal.]

How long are we to continue the policy which has made the flags of the United States a rare spectacle on the high seas?

Under our antiquated and absurd navigation laws no vessel built abroad can be admitted to American register and sailed under the American flag without special permission of congress.

Many citizens of this country are interested in shipping, but nearly all their vessels float the flags of other nations.

Experience has proved enough to damn our shipping laws. As far back as 1843 when we had free ships the tonnage of registered American vessels was 1,009,305 tons, and in 1861 it reached 2,642,628.

Now, after all our immense growth in population and wealth the tonnage of ships which fly our flag is only 916,180. These figures refer to our foreign trade. In 1861 our total merchant marine, including coasting trade, had a tonnage of 5,539,813. Though our coasting trade had increased greatly this total in 1894 had fallen to 4,684,029. The falling off in vessels engaged in the foreign trade was therefore immense. In 1857 when our ship building was not "protected," it produced vessels of 285,453 tons. In 1894 under protection the entire product of this industry has been vessels with a total tonnage of only 80,099.

In 1857 there were built in this country 251 ships and barks and 272 steam vessels. This year only three ships and barks have been built in the United States.

In 1882, 502 steam vessels were built in this country. In 1890 a subsidy was granted to encourage the building of ocean steamers, and in that year 410 steam vessels were built.

The industry has, however, languished so since that time that only 293 steam vessels were built this year.

As President Cleveland aptly said in his message this industry has been protected to strangulation. Last year only 19 per cent in value of our imports were brought in American vessels and only 17 per cent of our exports were carried in American vessels. In bulk only 3.9 per cent of our imports and only 2 per cent of our exports were carried in American vessels.

The Philadelphia Record makes the following practical suggestion for the improvement of American shipping:

If congress should pass a resolution to admit to American registry all the ships on the high seas now owned by Americans the country's merchant marine would make a very different exhibit. By such action not a vessel the less would be built in American ships yards. The navigation laws prohibit registry, but they do not prevent Americans from buying foreign ships. They do not encourage American ship building, but they do swell the merchant marines of other commercial nations at the expense and disparagement of our own. How long will narrow prejudice prevail against the repeal of a mischievous system of maritime laws that has long since been abandoned by every other civilized country? Even the Chinese have come at last to recognize the error of maintaining a policy which is utterly abhorrent to modern conditions of trade."

The present condition of American shipping is a reproach to our country, and yet it is the logical result of our navigation laws.

President Cleveland's appeal for free ships is as sensible as it is patriotic.

DIED.

CARMICHAEL—On November 28th, 1894, at his residence near Industry, Texas, after an illness of about five weeks, Mr. N. CARMICHAEL, aged 68 years and 10 days. He was born in Cumberland County, N. C., November 18th, 1826, and moved to Texas in 1860, and settled near Industry, Austin County, where he resided until the time of his death. He leaves eight children to mourn his death, his wife having died thirteen months previously.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

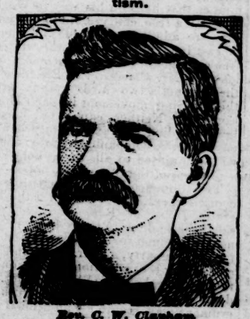
An Esteemed Pastor

Found Cure in Hood's After Other Medicines Failed

After the Grip—Muscular Rheumatism.



Rev. C. W. Clapham

The following comes voluntarily from a highly esteemed clergyman of the M. E. church, pastor of the Church Creek circuit in Dorchester County, Maryland:

"C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"I feel it a duty to the public to send this certificate. I saw in a Philadelphia paper a letter from a man who had suffered from

and had been restored by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I had the grip in the winter of '92 and '92 so severely that it deprived me of the use of my arms so that my wife had to dress and undress me, and when away from home I had to sleep in my clothes. I tried five doctors and not one accomplished anything. Then I saw the letter alluded to and determined to try

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla CURES

Hood's. Before I had taken one bottle I had the use of my arms, thank God. These are facts and can be verified by many persons here.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EPPS'S COCOA, &c.
HARPER'S WEEKLY.
THE NEW YORK HERALD.
JOHN F. CLARK—Sale of Land.
FRANK THORNTON—Xmas, 1894.
J. C. HAIGH—Stockholders' Meeting.
S. SHEETZ & SONS—Christmas Presents.
WARREN PRIOR & SON—Holiday Goods.
W. N. TILLINGHAST—Christmas Presents.
RALPH P. BUXTON—Small Farm, near Town for Sale.
MOORE'S NEW BOOK AND MUSIC STORE—Xmas Goods.
G. W. BOWEN—The Metropolitan Racket Store.
H. L. HALL—Account of Commissioners of Cumberland County.
HUSKE HARDWARE HOUSE—Pocket Knives, Razors and Strops, &c.

Much matter is crowded out to-day by advertisements and the County statement.

Misses Kate Alderman, Mary Davis and Lula Glover have accepted positions at Frank Thornton's dry goods store.

Capt. E. B. Pleasants and Mr. S. P. Adams, of the A. C. L., were in the city Monday locating the site for the new depot.

On account of the Christmas holidays the C. F. & Y. V R'y. Co., will sell tickets at the rate of four cents per mile, one way, for a round trip, between points on their line.

Dr. R. H. Graves, the veteran missionary of the Southern Baptist Convention, who has been for thirty-eight years in Canton, China, will preach at the First Baptist Church next Sunday morning and night.

In speaking of Mr. Barnes's departure recently, we were in error in saying he was paying clerk of the C. F. & Y. V. railroad. That position is held by our genial friend, Mr. Fisher. Mr. Barnes was rate clerk.

The marriage of Mr. Sprague to Miss Kate Hale at Raleigh on Tuesday evening is described at length in the Raleigh papers. Mr. Jackson L. Prior of this city was the groom's best man. The reception at the residence of the bride's guardian, Hon. Alf. A. Thompson, is mentioned as one of the most brilliant ever given in the capital city.

Decision Reserved.

Report of an important case tried before the Mayor this week is withheld pending the Mayor's decision, which he has reserved.

Wife Hunting.

Capt. W. B. Kendriek will Lecture on "Wife Hunting," in the Armory, on Tuesday night next, at 8 o'clock. Proceeds for the benefit of Fayetteville Graded School.

Culbreth—Smith.

Cards of invitation have been issued for the marriage of Mr. John H. Culbreth to Miss Gertrude Smith, which will take place at the First Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening, the 19th instant, at half past eight o'clock.

The Christmas Tide On.

The window displays of Christmas goods are very artistic and handsome. Our merchants are having a very good trade, notwithstanding the hard times. We know of no better market any where than Fayetteville for Christmas goods.

Street Lights.

Mayor Cook has submitted a proposition to the people. It is now for them to say whether we shall have lights by his plan, or by the one formerly in use here. Our columns are open to short communications on the subject.

Married.

Mr. John B. Weisiger, an old Fayetteville boy, was married at Elizabeth City, Thursday evening, December 6th, to Miss Mattie M. Albritton of that place. Mr. Weisiger, who was for several years on the OBSERVER force, is a young man of sterling character, and we wish for him and his young bride prosperity and happiness.

Buy No Others.

All persons are hereby cautioned against buying copies of the OBSERVER offered for sale on the streets unless, in every case, the words "For Transient Sale" are stamped on the margin of the paper. Should a newsboy or carrier offer for sale a copy of the OBSERVER not stamped, he should be promptly reported at this office.

A Fayetteville Girl Wins the Beauty Prize.

We were rejoiced, but not surprised, to see the following in the Wilmington Star of Sunday:

Miss Ethel Fisher, of Fayetteville, was the successful competitor for the Star's special premium offered for the handsomest young lady at the Lumberton Fair. Knowing how many beautiful girls were at Lumberton, the Star has no hesitation in pronouncing Miss Fisher's success one of which she may well feel proud.

An Evening at Mr. and Mrs. Bidgood's.

A number of young ladies and gentlemen spent a delightful evening, Tuesday night, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bidgood on Haymount. The invitations bade the guests to a reception between 7 and 9 o'clock, but a few devotees of duplicate whist remained later to enjoy a bout at that fascinating game.

The elegant residence was ablaze with light; beautiful decorations that revealed the trained taste of the accomplished hostess adorned the walls; and a delicious repast, whereat prettily attired young ladies waited, graced the hospitable board.

The entertainment was given in honor of Mr. Bidgood's nieces, Misses Grace and May Bidgood, of Richmond, Virginia, the charming young ladies whose visit in Fayetteville has given our young people such great pleasure

To Tea Growers.

We have received from our friend, Mr. W. F. Tomlinson, formerly of Asheville and Hickory, now of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, the following letter (crowded out of previous issues) which explains itself:

* * * "I learn that there are some parties in or near your city interested in Tea Culture. We have an exhibit of South Carolina tea, including the photographs of the plantations, and the Department of Agriculture is anxious to get a sample from the old North State for examination and for exhibition in our Museum. I send you enclosed "franks" which I trust you will furnish some tea producer and ask him to furnish us with samples. These "franks" can be used on packages not exceeding four pounds, and sent without cost. I am connected with the Agricultural Museum, and very anxious to have our State better represented here. Anything you might send will be appreciated."

We have the franks referred to by Mr. Tomlinson, which we shall be glad to furnish to any of our tea growers who may be disposed to avail themselves of his offer. That they will do so eagerly we cannot doubt.

Attempt to Wreck a Train on the A. C. L.

An attempt was made Thursday night near Florence to wreck the north bound train, on the Wilson Short Cut, which is due in this city at 9:30 p. m. Senator David Bennett Hill was among the passengers. A press despatch says:

A piece of timber 12 by 12 inches and 14 feet long was laid on the track parallel with and between the rails. The engine and the mail, baggage and first class cars passed over. A sleeper's truck caught it up and dragged it for a mile, until it reached the oil mill switch, one mile below here, where the trucks of the sleeper were turned crosswise on the track, tearing it up for several hundred yards.

The train was running sixty miles an hour and had it been ditched at the obstruction would have gone down a 35-foot embankment. Engineer Robert Mack and Conductor John W. Gaillard, of Charleston, were in charge of the train. Senator David B. Hill, of New York, was also on board the train in a special car. It was a dastardly deed and came near causing the death of half a hundred passengers. No one was hurt.

Come on, Gentlemen!

We learn that a number of gentlemen from New Jersey are thinking of making this city their headquarters, for the purpose of hunting for several weeks in the vicinity. Although quails are not so plentiful this year, yet we have no doubt that our northern friends will be surprised at their numbers. If they decide to come we can assure them of a warm welcome from our citizens.

Keep your blood pure and healthy and you will not have rheumatism. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives the blood vitality and richness.

This Is a Case for the Specialist.

Marion Gray, the three year old son of our townsman, Mr. J. R. Vann, has been suffering for the past three weeks from a severe pain in his left ear, which came on periodically. He would play about the house most of the time and appear to suffer no pain, then suddenly he would put his hand to his ear and scream as if he were on the verge of spasms, and continue to suffer for an hour or two, when he would get quiet and go to sleep. The family physician was called in—diagnosed otitis, and prescribed accordingly. On last Saturday the child began screaming as before, when Mrs. Vann pulled off his hood to examine his ear, and saw protruding therefrom a worm in doubled form. She pulled it out, and found it to be about five inches long, of the ascaris lumbricoides variety. The child immediately got quiet, and has suffered no pain since.

The Pains of Rheumatism

According to the best authorities, originate in a morbid condition of the blood. Lactic acid, caused by the decomposition of the gelatinous and albuminous tissues, circulates with the bloood and attacks the fibrous tissues, particularly in the joints, and thus causes the local manifestations of the disease. The back and shoulders are the parts usually affected by rheumatism, and the joints at the knees, ankles, hips and wrists are also sometimes attacked. Thousands of people have found in Hood's Sarsaparilla a positive and permanent cure for rheumatism. It has had remarkable success in curing the most severe cases The secret of its success lies in the fact that it attacks at once the cause of the disease by neutralizing the lactic acid and purifying the blood, as well as strengthening every function of the body.

The nineteenth century is conspicuous in history as an epoch of marvelous advancement. Steamships, railways, telegraphs and many of the achievements we prize so highly are the offspring of this grand era. Right abreast with the wonderful improvements in science and art is the not less remarkable progress in the medical world as exemplified in so efficient and powerful a restorative as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery accomplishing so speedily what formerly was considered impossible. It will not restore sight to a blind eye nor insure a healthy circulation in a wooden leg—but consumption—in its earlier stages, yields to it!

MR. JAMES H. CHENOWETH, of Oak, Nuckolls Co., Nebraska, wrote Dr. Pierce as follows: "In June 1890, I was taken with the grip and began soon after to cough up a hard substance, sometime the lumps would be half as large as a coffee berry. The physicians said I had consumption in the worst form, but they did me no good. I then took "Golden Medical Discovery" and it has now been one year since I coughed or expectorated any hard substance. Besides I weigh more than I ever did in my life."

A New Danger.

A great danger threatens the people of the South. An evil that is steadily growing, and unless checked will cause great misery and suffering. Liver Medicines, called by all sorts of names, are being sold to the druggist to be handed to the people when they call for Simmons Liver Regulator. Beware! There never has been more than one Simmons Liver Regulator on the market. Take nothing else. The person who tries to persuade you that anything else is just the same is not to be relied upon, nor is the dealer to be trusted who tries to sell you another article in its stead. You know what Simmons Regulator is, because it has done you good. No; dont be deceived into trying anything else. Wait until the Old Friend, Simmons Liver Regulator, has failed you, then will be time enough to try something else. Remember, Simmons Liver Regulator is what you want. It is put up only by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and a Red Z is on every package.

We Dig Down to Rock Bottom Prices!

In these days of panics, and with cotton at 5c. per pound high prices will not do. Even the wealthy cannot afford to waste their money, and the poor require double duty of every dollar and every penny. Thus we are fighting against the old Rotten Credit System for money, for reputation and for the people. Upon our counters will be thrown day after day new arrivals at marvelously low prices, sold at a small margin of profit and for the spot cash and one price to all. We mean to be masters of the situation and not let up until we accomplish that end. That we are below all competition is simply because we buy and sell for cash, and again our New York buyers give us the benefit of every forced sale that takes place in the Metropolis.

Christmas will soon be here and we are now receiving goods suitable for the Holiday season, when the hearts of all are made glad.

We wish to call your attention to our line of Dolls. We have them of every description and at all prices, from 5c. up. Our 20, 25 and 50c. dolls are beauties, and are sure to please.

We also have a full assortment of Juvenile Story and Picture Books, beautifully illustrated, entertaining and instructive at 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25c. Also Oxford Teacher's Bibles and Presentation Books of Works of Science, Art and History.

Some big drives in Photo Albums from 25c. up to $5.90, Christmas Cards, Work Boxes, Jewelry Boxes, Smoking Sets, Polished Horn Novelties, Brush and Comb Sets, Manicure Sets, Shaving Sets, &c., &c., all marked at prices to suit the times.

Have just received a beautiful assortment of Japanese Silk Handkerchiefs, very suitable and serviceable as Christmas presents from 10c. up to 50. Purses and Pocket Books of every description, and at all prices. Harper's Weekly IN 1895.

HARPER'S WEEKLY is a pictorial history of the times. It presents every important event promptly, accurately, and exhaustively in illustration and descriptive text of the highest order

The manner in which, during 1894, it has treated the Chicago Railway Strikes and the China Japanese War, and the amount of light it was able to throw on Korea the instant attention was directed to that little known country, are examples of its almost boundless resources. Julian Ralph the distinguished writer and correspondent, has been sent to the seat of war, and there joined by C. D. Weldon, the well-known American artist, now for many years resident in Japan, who has been engaged to co-operate with Mr. Ralph in sending to HARPER'S WEEKLY exclusive information and illustration.

During 1895 every vital question will be discussed with vigor and without prejudice in the editorial columns, and also in special articles by the highest authorities in each department. Portraits of the men and women who are making history, and powerful and caustic political cartoons, will continue to be characteristic features This Busy World, with its keen and kindly comment on the lesser doings of the day, will remain a regular department.

FICTION. There will be two powerful serials both handsomely illustrated: The Red Cockade, a stirring romance of olden days by Stanley J Weyman, and a novel of New York, entitled The Son of His Father, by Brander Matthews—several novelettes, and many short stories by popular writers.

Hoping to be cured by this celebrated treatment, but very soon became disgusted, and decided to TRY

S.S.S.

The effect was truly wonderful. I commenced to recover after taking the first bottle, and by the time I had taken twelve bottles I was entirely cured—cured by S. S. S. when the world-renowned Hot Springs had failed.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Raleigh News and Observer.

The best calculations that can now be made indicate that there will be 9 Democrats, 15 Republicans and 26 Populists in the Senate. In the House it is more difficult to tell exactly the comparative strength of the Populists and Republicans. It is very hard to ascertain the names of the Fusion candidates who have been elected in some of the counties, and even when this is done, their politics is, in many instances, an unknown quantity. At present, however, it seems that there will be in the House, 46 Democrats, 36 Republicans, 33 Populists and 1 Prohibitionist.
